Presidio Reinsurance Group and Tethys Health Ventures announce strategic relationship to offer Transplant Risk Management and Government Program Advocacy Services

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, and LONDON, UK, September 18, 2009 - Presidio Reinsurance Group, Inc. (Presidio) and Tethys Health Ventures (Tethys) are pleased to announce their formation of a strategic relationship to provide an integrated approach to managing the challenges of controlling solid organ and bone marrow transplant costs and the high cost of plan participants who may qualify for government programs.

Presidio, a leader in the Accident & Health market, is committed to offering products and services that enhance its client's ability to effectively manage high costs or unique claim situations both for the benefit of the health plan and its members. "Offering a customized first dollar transplant program, that Presidio will exclusively market and underwrite, along with a premier advocacy service for plan participants to access government programs, will continue to differentiate us as a market leader," said Craig Tyrell, SVP and Managing Director of Presidio Reinsurance Management, Ltd. "In addition, I am pleased to announce that Marcia McKinney, VP, Managing Underwriter will oversee the transplant program for Presidio."

Tethys specializes in transplant management and advocacy for members that may be eligible for government programs. "We have a tremendous amount of experience and expertise in these areas and combined with our proprietary systems, Tethys is able to provide the breadth and depth of administrative services that are unmatched in the industry," stated Tim Koch, President of Tethys. "We are very excited about the strategic relationship with Presidio and the opportunities it provides both organizations."
